Army of Parents Takes Sunday To Wipe Out 'Death Pond' Where Two Playing Lads Died

LEVITTOWN, N. Y. (P) — An army of Levittown parents—with shovels and bulldozers for weapons, the lives of their children for a spur — early today erased "Death Pond" from their backyard.

For 16 hours straight they had toiled, many on their lone day off from work. Their muscles ached and their hands were sore. But they plodded wearily home with fear no longer gnawing at their hearts.

It was a fear they first felt last Monday when a landslide at a rainfilled excavation smothered a 7-year-old boy. It was a fear intensified Friday after a 4-year-old boy drowned in the same pit.

Sunday, Levittown parents grabbed shovels and marched on the pit, which is just across this Long Island community's boundary in Hicksville, N. Y. The pit, used to catch rain water, was part of a housing construction job.

They took shovels and attacked the 30-foot sand pile while a small pump was installed to drain the 14-foot-deep, 72-by-72-foot hole alongside the pile.

Soon someone spotted two bulldozers nearby on the construction job. A parent said he could operate the big machine. Then another driver was found and the bulldozers were "borrowed."

While the men toiled away—at times 150 strong—their wives kept up a steady supply of coffee and sandwiches. Several women even took a turn on the shovels.

Others marched around the pit with signs which expressed the thoughts uppermost in everyone's mind. One read:

"Your child may be next."

A watchman on the construction job watched and said nothing. Neither did his employers. The police were "absent."

However, the owner of one bulldozer showed up in the afternoon and took it away, saying he had not authorized its use.

It grew dark but the parents toiled on, determined that their children would not be endangered by the pit again.

The Levittown fire department sent a truck with floodlights. Other townspeople parked their automobiles around the pit and trained the car lights on the excavation.

Shortly after midnight the work was done.

120 Wounded As UN Quells Mutiny Sunday

North Korea Civilians Blamed For Die-Hard Uprising on Island

PUSAN, Korea (P) — The Allied Prisoner of War Command reported today that 82 Communist prisoners were killed and 120 wounded in a mutiny by die-hard civilian internees in a camp on the island of Pongam Sunday.

An official announcement said American and South Korean soldiers quelled the uprising and maintained unopposed control. The prisoners on Pongam are North Koreans.

The announcement said the uprising probably was a part of recently intercepted Communist plans indicating preparations for a mass breakout.

About 3,600 of the camp's 9,000 internees participated in the simultaneous uprising in six separate compounds.

The Allied command said many of the mutineers were former inmates of notorious Compound 62 on Koje, where bloody rioting broke out last Feb. 18.

The POW Command announced said:

"DIE-HARD Communist civilian internees (reclassified Communist prisoners of war) mutinied in a UNC camp on the island of Pongam at 1 p. m. Sunday, Dec. 14. United Nations soldiers of the United States and Republic of Korea quelled the uprising and maintained unopposed control of the situation. Eighty-two prisoners died and 120 were wounded in the abortive uprising which probably was a part of recently intercepted Communist plans indicating preparations for a mass breakout. Since the discovery of these plans, UN guards have been alerted for any such contingency.

"Two U. S. soldiers and two Republic of Korea Army soldiers were injured by thrown rocks.

"The uprising occurred in UNC Camp No. 1C on Pongam, a small island west of Koje. Pongam is a steep, terraced windswept camp. The approach to buildings housing Communists on each of the terraces is from below, a fact which increases the effectiveness of missiles thrown by the internees and denies effective use of such mass control weapons as concussion and tear gas grenades. At the time of the uprising, the wind was blowing laterally across the steep hill, making impossible the use of tear gas to quell the rioters.

"AN ESTIMATED 3,600 of the camp's population of 9,000 internees participated in the simultaneous action in six separate compounds of inclosure No. 2. The action started when prisoners in the six compounds, each containing approximately 600 persons, organized and continued military drills and demonstrations in each compound in defiance of lawful orders. Moving according to plan they massed at the top of a high terrace where three ranks with locked arms defied advancing troops while others above the tight ranks hurled a shower of stones which kept UN troops from ascending the steep incline.

"Orders, warning shots and riot guns had no effect on the organized mob and when three waves of fanatical Communists advanced on the guards, individual weapons were brought to bear when their power became necessary to prevent the entire mass from breaking out.

"Immediately after the action quieted down, casualties were moved to the beach and evacuated by ship to the field hospital at nearby Koje and to an aid station at Choguri, another camp on the southern tip of Koje. Eighty-three of the wounded were moved to the main camp at Koje and 37 were moved to Choguri.

"Many of the mutineers formerly were inmates of infamous Compound 62 on Koje—the compound which erupted with such violence on Feb. 18, 1952.

"Die-hard Communists, these internees were sent to Pongam in June when the large Koje compounds were broken up. In the matter of repatriation they had elected individually to return to Communist control."

Ike Back On Job After Korea Trip

NEW YORK (P) — President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower went back to work in his New York headquarters today, prepared to map "positive programs" for bringing peace in Korea.

He said he returned from his trip to the war zone with new confidence about the outlook for speeding a satisfactory solution. In two public statements Sunday, the general expressed optimism.

At the same time, however, he repeated his view that no simple formula is at hand, and he said patience, foresight and common sense are needed to find one.

Eisenhower gave no indication when he plans to meet with Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

MacArthur declared in a speech in New York 10 days ago: "I am confident there is a clear and definite solution to the Korean conflict." Several days later, Eisenhower messaged MacArthur that he would like to talk with him and MacArthur replied that he would be agreeable. The two generals may meet here this week.

THE PRESIDENT-elect said on his return here that his trip was a starting point for his own planning. At LaGuardia Field he said: "Everyone of us thinks we have learned something to make this expedition a sort of starting place from where we are going to plan the programs we are going to adopt.

"And we expect them to be positive programs. Because you know, my friends, just because one side wants peace doesn't make peace. We must go ahead and do things that induce the others to want peace also."

This phrase "do things that induce others to want peace also" was contained in an extemporaneous statement at the airport.

Eisenhower also had a prepared statement for reporters when his big Constellation landed. In that, he said something that sounded similar to the off-the-cuff remark.

He said: "We face an enemy whom we cannot hope to impress by words, however eloquent, but only by deeds — executed under circumstances of our own choosing."

He gave no indication of what he meant. On the contrary, he said he is limited in what he can report publicly. "As we all know," he added, "certain aspects of battle problems cannot ever be discussed publicly."

THE GENERAL tone of both statements, however, was a qualified optimism. "All of us have long realized," he said in the prepared statement, "that there can be no simple formula for bringing a swift, victorious end to this war. But at the very least, that knowledge prepares us for whatever tough tasks lie ahead."

With respect to the future, he made three points:

"First, the training of ROK forces can and should be expanded and speeded. This is my opinion and the unanimous opinion of the commanders on the scene.

"Second, certain problems of supply have reached rather serious proportions, and require early correction.

"Finally, we must all recognize in all our thinking and our planning that the Korean war is but the most dramatic and most painful phase, for us at this moment, of our world-wide struggle against Communist aggression. This journey marks not the end but the beginning of a new effort to conclude honorably this phase of the global struggle."

Bad Weather In Northeast Costs 22 Dead

By The Associated Press

Sub-freezing weather was the rule in much of the South today while in the northeast heavy snow and rain storms moved into Canada, leaving 22 deaths and tangled communications in their wake.

Gordonsville, Va., was the coldest town in the South, with a 10 above zero reading. Pensacola, Fla., registered 27, though early morning readings in the 30's and 40's were more common farther south in the state.

Snow flurries were reported at three places in Florida Sunday — an extremely rare occurrence.

In the northeast, week end storms hit New England and the Buffalo, N. Y., area, causing 22 deaths and disrupting transportation and communications.

The New England storm brought up to 22 inches of snow in Northern Vermont while about 12 inches fell in some sections of New York state.

While the weather bureau forecast morelight snow flurries for parts of New England today, temperature rises of 20 to 30 degrees were reported in the Northern Great Plains.

The Sesslers credit Skippy, their six-year-old fox terrier, with saving their lives Sunday. Skippy pawed them awake in time to save them from possible death by fumes from a gas heater.

Dentist, 92, Dies

FREDERICK, Md. (P) — Dr. Thomas S. Eader, the 92-year-old dentist who missed only two days at his office through illness in 70 years, died Sunday. He was believed to have been the nation's oldest practicing dentist.

Health Board Acts Sunday In Meat Case

W. W. Montgomery Appears To Explain Lack Of Inspection

Delivery to and use by buyers of admittedly uninspected beef, slaughtered and sold here last week by a Fayette County farmer, was blocked by the Fayette County Board of Health at a special called meeting Sunday afternoon.

W. W. Montgomery, agricultural extension agent for Fayette County, appeared before the Board at its request to explain what had occurred that had led to reports reaching the Health Department that he has sold meat which had not been officially inspected as required by law.

Montgomery also operates his own farm on the Snowhill Pike. At the conclusion of the meeting the board held that although there was no evidence of an intentional violation of law or of the board's regulations, there had been a violation which could not be ignored and that the matter would have to be presented to the county's prosecuting attorney, John Bath, for such action as he deemed necessary.

Prosecutor Bath said neither Montgomery nor any members of the Health Board had conferred with him up until noon Monday. He added, however, that he had prepared complaints charging Montgomery with violation of the Health Department's rules and regulations governing the slaughter and inspection and sale of meat and left them at the Health Department office. He explained that this had been done at the request of the Health Board and that he was acting as the board's legal advisor in his capacity of county prosecutor.

Although Bath said he had not conferred with the Health Board, but understood that the formal complaints would be filed against Montgomery in municipal court before Judge Robert Brubaker, probably Monday afternoon. The prosecutor expressed the belief that the complaints would be filed by Jesse F. Blackmore, the president of the board.

Sheriff Orland Hays and Dr. D. R. Junk, the meat inspector for the board, were at the locker plant looking over the meat Monday morning. Dr. Junk said their purpose was primarily "to check to make sure it was all there" but that no action toward confiscation, attachment or impounding it was taken.

THE SUNDAY afternoon meeting held in the board's offices in the Court House was called by Dr. Gordon Savage, county health director to obtain all facts in the case and take any action necessary. A representative of the Record-Herald was present at the board's request.

Jesse F. Blackmore of Jeffersonville is the president of the Health Board. Other members are O. W. Landrum, Walter E. Sollars, Dr. Joseph Herbert and Roscoe Duff. Dr. Herbert was the only member of the board not at the meeting.

Dr. Savage had talked with Montgomery earlier after he had received reports concerning the matter and also had discussed what he had learned with the Prosecutor Bath.

AT THE BOARD meeting, Montgomery told the health officials that a little over a week ago he and his son, Barton had castrated six calves, which he had purchased some time earlier at a sale at the Producers Stockyards here. The calves had been officially inspected before the sale.

City and County Confer on Money

The matter of distribution of what is known as "local government" funds coming into the county proved the chief point of argument when city officials and a group of business men, most of whom were owners of both city and farm property, met with the county commissioners and the members of the county budget commission at the Court House Monday morning, in an effort to seek adjustments which would to some degree take care of the city of Washington's serious financial plight.

The result of the meeting was an agreement to a suggestion made by Cliff Hughes, president of the board of commissioners, to the effect that it be recommended to the county budget commission that in the distribution of this local government fund there should be a tentative arrangement whereby the city and county each take the same amount from this fund and that the $12,000 remaining beyond these amounts which had been set up by the county auditor for the county share, be held back until city and county books were balanced for the year, then this $12,000 be distributed between the two subdivisions according to need.

The local government fund, made up of sales tax money returned as the county's share by the state, has a present balance of approximately $50,000. The law states that this can be distributed by the budget commission according to definite needs, except for certain percentages which must go to various subdivisions of the county.

THE CITY OFFICIALS contended that for a number of years the city had not had its just share of either actual millage in taxes, or from this local government fund, according to its need. County Auditor Acton stated that he recognized the city's serious financial situation declared that he still contended that the county budget commission had allowed the city all that it reasonably could on the basis of need.

Now comes the time when toys, non-perishable food and clothing are good for admission tickets to the State Theater to see the movie show for free.

James Chakeres, the owner of the State, announced about a week ago that anyone with toys, food or clothing would be admitted to the State Theater Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday—provided the contributions were left there to brighten the Christmas for some less fortunate boy or girl or family.

Chakeres said "most important is the pleasure it will bring these people, but it is all in the true spirit of Christmas."

Plans call for turning over the contributions to one, or possibly several, organizations cooperating in the Christmas program for the needy.

This program of food, clothing and toy distribution is being coordinated through the Chamber of Commerce, Church groups, fraternal and patriotic organizations and a few individuals are participating.

A list of the unfortunate, but deserving, families is being compiled by the Chamber of Commerce with the help of the Welfare Department, Health Department and schools.

Representatives of groups and organizations participating in the program are getting the list of the families there. The purpose of the Chamber, Ed Kreider, the executive-secretary, said was to reduce the minimum chances of duplication and to make as certain as possible that none is overlooked.

WASHINGTON (P)—Controls were clamped today on all rental housing in Sandusky, O., and the rest of Erie County.

Controls Ordered

WASHINGTON (P)—Controls were clamped today on all rental housing in Sandusky, O., and the rest of Erie County.

These officials contended under the law the city was entitled to a much greater share of the local government fund than had been allotted for the coming year; they expressed hope that some agreement could be reached so that the city would not have to appeal to its request to the state tax commission's board of appeal.

COUNTY AUDITOR Acton pointed out that the city would receive in the distribution to be made at an early date the approximate sum of $36,000 which would include $14,000 from the local government fund, approximately $10,000 from the personal tax fund and close to $12,000 in classified taxes.

The city contended that it would need much more than this to operate and pay any portion of back bills, even counting what would be available from other sources.

In the course of more than two hours of discussion and argument there was endless comment on details of taxes and other points at issue, during which the county officials claimed that the estimated $12,000 balance in the general fund by the end of the year, might be completely wiped out by unexpected deficits in some other funds for which appropriations had been made.

As the matter now stands the question of the city-county local government fund distribution is left in the hands of the county budget commission. The members agreed to endeavor to reach some satisfactory adjustment, and suggested that a committee be picked by the city from its officials to meet with the budget commission when distribution is made to see exactly what funds were needed by county and all subdivisions. The budget commission is composed of the county auditor, county treasurer and county prosecutor. The latter could not be present at this session.

IN ADDITION TO County Auditor Acton, County Treasurer Fabb and County Commissioners Hughes, Minton and Miller, others present were City Manager James Parkinson; Roy Baughn and Ralph Taylor of the city council's finance committee; City Solicitor William J. Junk, Robert C. Cockerill, the incoming county commissioner, and the following citizens representing the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations in the city: Webber French, Ray Brandenburg, Carroll Halliday, Mac Dews, Joe Peters, Willard Wilson and Eli Craig. Also present were two representatives of the Record-Herald.

In presenting the city's case, Parkinson, Junk and Baughn acted as spokesmen. All others in the delegation of citizens were asked for opinions and comments. All responded, agreeing to a large extent that they did not want the county to suffer in its finances but that some adjustment of tax money should be made to give the city some relief. They said they hoped this could be accomplished without serious controversy between city and county.

WASHINGTON (P)—Controls were clamped today on all rental housing in Sandusky, O., and the rest of Erie County.

Ike's 'Election' Now Taking Place

WASHINGTON (P)—The nation's 531 presidential electors today formally cast their votes to elect the next chief executive of the United States.

Ohio's Electoral College for instance, meet in Columbus to cast the state's 25 votes. The Buckeye college, similar to those in other states, was to hold 11 a. m. and 2 p. m. sessions in the Ohio House of Representatives chamber.

Under the Constitution, the Electoral College has the legal right if it wishes to elect Gov. Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate—or anyone else.

But pollsters were taking almost no risk in predicting a 442 to 89 victory for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

That's the way the states' voters indicated they wanted their electors to vote today when Eisenhower, the Republican candidate, was swept into office by a record 33,927,549 votes to Stevenson's 27,311,316 last Nov. 4.

HOWEVER, most electors are legally free to vote as they please. Few states bind electors by law to vote for the candidate who carries the state.

Nevertheless, wrong-way electors are extremely rare. Only three out of 14,379 electors in the nation's history have voted "for others than whom they were commissioned," according to a former Electoral College president.

Lastest such case occurred in 1948 when Tennessee went for President Truman but one of the state's 12 electors cast his vote for J. Strom Thurmond, States Rights candidate.

The final step under the much criticized Electoral College system comes Jan. 6 when Congress meets to record the results, with the presiding officer of the Senate tolling off the electors' votes.

While news reporters have been referring to Eisenhower as the "President-elect," he actually was not to be "elected" until today. Technically, the voters on Nov. 4 merely designated Ike as President. The Electoral College does the actual "electing."

To be letter-perfect according to the law, Eisenhower is not officially "elected" until Congress holds its special session Jan. 6.

And, further, the general will not be President until he takes his oath on Jan. 20.

Youthful Father Held By Cops In Probe Of Teenager Death

HAMILTON (P)—A young Oxford father who worked quietly in Hamilton while police searched the Mid-Kansas to Hamilton with her family, was found lying on lonely Beisinger Road Thanksgiving night, dying from fractures of the skull.

Police said Clyde Browning, 25, signed a statement indicating the girl's death was accidental. The statement said Browning last saw the girl sitting in the road after she became panicky and leaped from his moving automobile.

Mary Ann, a pretty 17-year-old who only recently moved from Arkansas to Hamilton with her family, was found lying on lonely Beisinger Road Thanksgiving night, dying from fractures of the skull.

Police had been pressing a search since then for the man seen leaving a Hamilton cafe with her about 25 minutes before she was found.

Browning, married and father of an infant son, was arrested in his home Sunday by Sheriff Charles Walke.

Sheriff Walke signed a manslaughter charge against Browning today but no time was set for his arraignment. Browning was taken to Cincinnati for a lie detector test. Cincinnati police reported the tests showed only "slight variations" and the prosecutor said

Browning's statement "stands as a whole."

IN HIS statement, Browning said he had taken his wife and baby to a revival meeting here Thanksgiving night and had left them while he visited three cafes. It was in the third cafe that he caught Mary Ann looking at him in the barroom mirror, introduced himself to her, and left with her after she accepted his offer of a ride home.

But then, he said, Mary Ann began insisting that he take her back. "I thought I would have trouble with her, so I told her, 'we'll go back,'" he said.

The youth asserted Mary Ann insisted he was not taking her home, despite his protests that he was.

"She said, 'no, this is going far out in the country,' and I said, 'No, it isn't,' and she rolled down the window and screamed or howled for help and she opened the door and I said, 'don't jump.' I said, 'I'll stop,' and I hit the brakes and just as I did, she jumped."

Browning claimed he stopped the car and saw her sitting in the road about 60 feet back. He added that when he saw headlights on cars coming the same way he was bound, he started up the car again. He reasoned that passengers in the cars would take care of the girl if she was hurt.

Weekend Haul Is Very Heavy

Radar Again Used
By State Patrol

Radar equipment was used by the state patrolmen on route 22 in the 40 mph zone west of Washington C. H., Saturday afternoon, and several arrests were made, augmenting other arrests as well as several made by the police.

Paul Carpenter, Newark, clocked at 60 miles in a 40 mile zone, posted $20 bond.

Others picked up by the patrol were: Joseph H. Schultz, 29, 58 miles;

Edward Cobb, 32, city, 53 miles; George G. Rarie, 22, Sabina, reckless operation, citation;

Hubert Terry, Steubenville, $20 bond for reckless operation;

Kenneth C. Wilkerson, High Point, N. C., driving while intoxicated and for reckless operation.

Wilkerson was driving a car which struck a culvert four miles west of Washington C. H., early Saturday morning, injuring Wilkerson and Benjamin F. Raines, the latter critically.

Harold L. Wilkin, Circleville, reckless operation, bond $100;

Ralph B. Smith, Wilmington, speeding, bond $20;

Juanita M. Fuschs, Columbus, speeding, $20 bond;

Donald E. Eckle, city, reckless operation, $20 bond;

Richard M. Ackley, 35, city, driving while drunk;

Clarence H. Dett, 50, city, operating motor vehicle with improper registration by using winds hield sticker issued to Billy Wolfe, and operating a Dodge pickup truck with fictitious license plates, originally issued for a Ford truck;

Danny R. Emisten, Port Clinton, running red light, and Charles Counts, 35, city, disorderly conduct.

Three plain drunks also were taken into custody by the police.

Medical Auxiliary Has Christmas Party

Members of the women's Auxiliary of the Fayette County Medical Association entertained the doctor husbands at the annual Christmas dinner party, which was held this year at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Persinger.

Although the evening was primarily one for sociability, the Auxiliary did hold a short business session before the dinner. Mrs. Byers Shaw, the president, presided.

First of all a $5 contribution was voted to the Fayette County Tuberculosis and Health Association, then there was discussion about how the organization should go about compiling a history of the medical profession in Fayette County.

The Auxiliary had been asked to write the history to be used on the April program of the Sesquicentennial celebration next year.

In the end, it was agreed that an appeal should be made to the public for help—any stories or records regarding the physicians in the past are wanted. Mrs. G. H. Woodmansee is the chairman of the history committee.

Mrs. N. M. Reiff reminded the group that the "Your Doctor" motion picture trailer to the regular program at the Fayette Theater was being shown now. The auxiliary was instrumental in bringing the trailer here.

Nine physicians and their wives were at the party. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Hancock of Marietta, were special guests.

Uninspected Meat

Montgomery farm, it was noticed immediately that the calves had continued bleeding. Montgomery said, presumably from having been fed on an ensilage of alfalfa, ladino and red clover mixed and corn. Montgomery said he and his son reached the conclusion that the animals might bleed to death and killed them.

After dressing the meat, it was placed in the Farm Bureau locker on Main Street where some of it later had been offered for sale, he declared.

Montgomery stated that his son, who had graduated from the Ohio State University's college of agriculture and had just recently returned from U.S. Army where he had been assigned as an inspector of meat while in service, was considered fully qualified to determine whether meat should be used.

He further said that since he and his family intended to use a good portion of the meat from the calves slaughtered, he had thoughtlessly failed to have an inspector, designated by the county Health Department, present to make an inspection and had agreed to sell some of it.

his family intended to use a good portion of the meat from the calves slaughtered, he had thoughtlessly failed to have an inspector, designated by the county Health Department, present to make an inspection and had agreed to sell some of it.

WHEN THE MATTER was called to his attention, Montgomery said he immediately took steps to see that the meat was kept in the locker and not used by any buyers one of which was the Fayette County Children's Home.

The only other buyer mentioned at the board's Sunday meeting was Roscoe Duff, a member of the health board.

There was nothing brought out at the meeting to indicate exactly how many others had bought or ordered some of the meat, what the price had been or whether the sales had actually been completed.

He admitted that this was what he termed a "technical violation" and stated that by reason of his error he was willing to assume any blame attached and to take any steps which the board recommended.

The board member with Dr. Savage acting as spokesman, indicated that while they believed that Montgomery had not committed any intentional offense, the violation however, was a definite one and that the board had no choice but to bring the matter before the county prosecutor for action.

DR. SAVAGE stated that as soon as his attention had been called to the case he had ordered the meat held in the locker pending investigation. The regulations covering such "seized" meat, as passed by the county Health Board in September, 1945, provided that before such meat is destroyed by a board's order the owner could have the right of appeal to the board.

Montgomery made this appeal on the grounds that the meat was in no sense bad or spoiled and that he wanted it for his own use. After an inspection of the meat in the locker by board members, the appeal was granted.

It was further decided at Montgomery's request that he should present himself to the prosecutor at once, probably early Monday, to accept that official's decision as

Craig Store Set For Men's Nite

Annual Yule Event Is Wednesday Night

Men's Nite at Craig's Department Store, which has become a sort of tradition in Washington C. H. during the Christmas season, is to be held Wednesday.

The doors of the store are to open at 7:30 P. M. and remain open until 9:30 P. M.

This has been an annual event here for more than 20 years with only one interruption. That was during the second World War when merchandise was so scarce and early shoppers cleaned out the displays before the middle of December then it was called off, much to the disappointment of scores of men in the community.

Craig's advertisement in today's Record-Herald lists the "store force" for this year. In addition to the men of the store, a score of farmers, businessmen and professional men are to take temporary posts as salesmen and greeters to see that all the visitors have a good time, as well as get expert service in the selection of gifts.

MANY OF THE "outside men" who will be at the store Wednesday night have been on the Men's Nite force year after year. Roy Downs of near Bloomingburg has become a top salesman in the women's robe section. He started when he was the proprietor of the Downs Garage on Fayette Street and has continued after he became a farmer. Last year, he postponed his departure for Florida; just so he could be at the store for that Men's Nite.

Started many years ago strictly as a social event, when the men could visit a women's store and see only other men in the aisles and behind counters, the store management decided on "gift secretaries" to help out so that the correct sizes and styles might be better selected. But it's still a night for men only and the greeters turn back any women who misunderstand the meaning of the invitation.

Incidentally, every member of the store force is pledged to secrecy about what takes place inside the store and many, many surprises come later... on Christmas morning.

THERE ARE MANY stories about Craig's Men's Nite over the years. One about the jolly and generous man who had a wife and four lovely daughters but had never before personally selected a gift for any of them until he attended Men's Nite. And the man who braved the city streets one night after his wife literally pushed him out the door at home... yes, the women are very much interested in Craig's Men's Nite, it seems!

So, Craig's Store cordially invites the men to drop in Wednesday night. This goes especially for new residents of the community to whom this may be the first time for an event which has been termed as a most unusual and enjoyable one.

Man Out-eats Horse Animal Expert Says

DAVIS, Calif.—(P)—For his size, man puts away more food than the horse, says an animal husbandman at the University of California.

Carroll E. Howell, in commenting on the statement that a mature human eats 16 times his body weight in a year, claims that a hard-working horse given liberal allowances of food every day could eat only eight or nine times its weight in a year.

Soldier Of Two Wars Shot Through Heart

HAMILTON, Mont.—(P)—A shot in the heart has never dimmed the fighting abilities of Lt. Gilbert Tucker, so many Germans and North Koreans could probably testify.

The Army lieutenant, home here after combat in Korea, was shot through the lower section of his heart on a hunting trip in 1932 when he was 10. In World War II he also saw combat duty on several occasions.

Opera Goes Beyond Social Register When Met Opening on Theater TV

By WALTER LOWE

(By The Associated Press)
NEW YORK—(P)—Pressed for funds and of late awakened to the fact that interest in opera extends considerably beyond the social register, the Metropolitan Opera is beginning to let its hair down.

In fact, the old lady—she's almost 70—is showing a sprightliness that has surprised, and in some instances shocked, her loyal devotees. The accent at the Met today is definitely on the new and the popular, and the bright promise held out by television has been a major factor in bringing about some of these changes.

No one knows how many people in this country actually like opera well enough to come out and pay for it. A vital part of that answer may have been supplied the other night when, in a unique experiment, 33 movie houses throughout the nation carried a telecast of "Carmen" on their large screens. It was a direct and exclusive pickup directly from the stage of the Met.

The event was quite as important for the exhibitors as it was for the Met. The theaters attract the mass audiences and are therefore an excellent point of contact. The Met has something that the movie people have wanted very badly for a long time. Theater TV may be the link through which the two entertainment media will come to complement one another.

THE TV UNDERTAKING, along with other types of opera telecasts planned, is typical of the whole vast transformation that has taken place at the Met under its new general manager, Rudolf Bing.

Bing, a tall, soft-spoken man who came to the Met via Vienna and other continental points, has introduced a revitalizing spirit that has swept the old opera house like a gust of spring air, taking with it some traditional cobwebs and worn-out vocal chords.

The boredom of routine has been replaced with enthusiasm and excitement; imaginative sets and new costumes, designed to make operas a dramatic treat to the eye as much as to the ear, are used increasingly. Last but not least, there are new and frequently young voices on the Met roster of stars where American talent is represented in conspicuous numbers.

If the Met so far hasn't been able to lick its financial problems—it ended up $400,000 in the red for the 1952-53 season—Bing is at least determined to popularize its appeal and make the broad audience aware of the charm and musical attractiveness of opera.

USING GOOD box office sense, he has brought a lighter touch to the Met, sprucing up the repertoire with such tuneful fare as Johann Strauss' "Die Fledermaus" and casting some of his company's biggest stars in the appealing and eye-filling operetta. This won't the Met a host of new friends but audibly scandalized the more conservative elements among the box-seat holders.

This year's Met season, the 68th to be precise, offers three new productions, one of which—Stravinsky's "The Rake's Progress"—constitutes an American premiere. George Balanchine, the noted choreographer, is staging the work. This is the first completely new opera to be introduced at the Met since Bing took over as director two years ago.

The other two newly studied, staged and designed operas are "La Boheme" and "La Forza Del Destino" which recently opened the season. The ever-popular Puccini work will be directed by Hollywood's Joseph Mankiewicz and is to be presented alternately in an English and an Italian version.

SINCE BING is a firm believer in the theory that opera should be seen as well as heard, he is drawing on Broadway and Hollywood talent for both his staging and his sets. This started when Alfred Lunt directed Mozart's "Così Fan Tutte" to the critics' delight last year, and the Metropolitan plans to continue to stick close to her entertainment-wise show business sisters.

In a low bow to the new opera audience it is seeking, the Met is offering works in both English and the language they were originally written in. This season, besides "Boheme," Mousorgsky's powerful "Boris Godunov" also will play the Met in a twin version.

The Met opened its doors on Oct. 22, 1883, with Gounod's "Faust," sung in Italian. It's been on the same site ever since, except that a fire swept it in 1892 and the interior had to be refitted. Now there is talk that the Metropolitan Opera association is planning another million-dollar renovation job to modernize the theater and add some much-needed seating space.

Will the Met ever become self-sustaining? "Well," says Bing with a faint smile, "it depends very much on how far the public will go with us. There will certainly have to be some compromise on our part with what you might call the 'popular taste.' If Hollywood can make money with a Caruso movie, surely we can go there one better. After all, we're supposed to be the experts in this business."

Re-entry Into Israel Sought By India Jews

BOMBAY—(P)—Fifty-eight of the 128 Indian Jews who returned from Israel last August charging racial discrimination have petitioned Prime Minister David Ben Gurion for permission to resettle in Israel.

The dark-skinned emigrants to Israel made news when they started a hunger-strike to compel Israeli authorities to send them back to India. Now they have called for financial assistance for a second attempt at integration in the Jewish homeland.

War-Casualty Ship Slated For Salvage

SINGAPORE—(P)—A salvage company has raised the barnacle and mud-covered hulk of the Japanese ship, Zenya Maru, off Singapore.

The wreck has a large hold in its side big enough to hold three three-ton trucks. Capt. W. A. Doust, general manager of the salvage firm, said. No records exist as to how it was destroyed during the war. The ship will be broken up here and its steel used for building construction.

'Doktor' Title Is Important

You're Nobody In Germany Without It

BONN, Germany—(P)—You're virtually nobody in Germany unless you have a doctor's title.

And you're really somebody if you are a double or triple doctor. The title of Dr. is a badge of distinction that brings you bows instead of a brushoff everywhere from government offices to repair shops.

Only a tiny fraction of Germany's "doctors" are medical men. Many of the nation's political leaders, newspaper men, economists and even industrial barons use this title. Nearly one-third of the 420 members of parliament call themselves "doctor." Forty German news and radio correspondents who work here also are listed as "doctors."

A German who gets a doctorate degree from a university and passes a special state examination forever after calls himself "doctor."

WOE BETIDE the one who fails to address such persons as "Herr Doktor." It's an insult to leave out the "doktor." And you must address the wife of a "Herr Doktor" as "Frau Doktor."

Many young Germans take a cynical view of this old practice.

If they persist, the title of doctor may die outside the medical profession.

But doctor titles are still so serious that it's a criminal offense to use it illegally.

A small, super-elite group of Germans are double and triple doctors. They have more than one degree.

The Federal Interior Minister, for example, is "Dr. Dr. Robert Lehr." With a short name that's not so bad. But one member of parliament is "Dr. Dr. Robert Philipp Neoll von der Nahmer."

The nation's leading psychologist is "Prof. Dr. Dr. Leopold von Wiese und Kaiserswaldau."

Lad Anticipates Trip To Woodshed

CLEVELAND (P)—The parents of Jerry Szalkowski, 5, were surprised to see him dash out the door calling out: "I won't come back. You'll spank me."

They understood when they looked in the clothes closet. It was on fire. Jerry had lit a candle left over from Halloween. By the time the blaze was extinguished, firemen estimated damage to apartment and furnishings at $5,500.

We Must End Red Influence In Government

If the "powers that be" in our nation were to listen to the sentiment that is predominant in a progressive rural community like Fayette County, there would be no question about quick action to eliminate the Red influence in governmental circles.

This same sentiment, frequently expressed, apparently prevails outside of a few places, all over the country.

Strangely there seems to be an element, strongly vocal, which seeks to play down and ridicule efforts to eliminate every vestige of this so-called Red influence. The rather decisive plans to this end being considered by the incoming national administration, are the subject of many cynical and sarcastic comments.

Most of those who indulge in such comments appear to have adopted a "closed-eye" policy, choosing to argue that few if any of the persons involved in suspicion, really mean anything or any influence of consequence and that the whole talk and issue is merely a "witch-hunt." Maybe this is an effort to throw up a wall of protective propaganda based on fear that a relentless investigation would reveal "within government circles" far more trouble of this nature, probably more scandals also, and graft than these scoffers want to see brought out.

Facts already disclosed in various investigations indicate that many of the folks who refuse to speak up and deny their alleged Communist affiliations, held vitally important jobs in our government. One of these men was in charge of military intelligence in South Africa during the war. Subsequently, he was the second man in the Research Section of the Trusteeship Division of the UN. Another was once chief of the Yugoslav Branch of UNRRA. A third held the post of chief of the UN Division of Economic Stability and Development. Still another is secretary of the International Monetary Fund who has previously held ten United States jobs. He has refused to say whether or not he is a Communist on the ground of self-incrimination.

Just how people of this kind could manage to get into important government jobs in our country and subsequently move into top-level UN positions is scarcely a mystery to the American people. The peculiar theoretical climate of Washington under the Truman administration drew these folks as molasses draws flies.

Rain and Scoffers

Meeting the emergency of a long-protracted drought, businessmen of Dallas financed a cloud-seeding experiment. The entire cost was borne by Dallas. The nearby city of Fort Worth was not asked to chip in a dime. Whether the cloud-seeding did the business or not, the fact remains that it did rain in the parched city of Dallas. While there was much rejoicing, there was also just a bit of chagrin over the fact that Fort Worth, getting in on the project for free, also shared in the bounty. So did many other cities in Texas, all of which had put their faith in Divine Providence, which never has to be financed.

As is usually the case, the Dallas incident was not without scoffers. It was quickly pointed out the rain did not come because of the seeding. A cold front moving over these cities was given credit by the weather department for bringing a long-delayed general rain. It just so happened, the unbelievers contend, the seeding was done at a time when it would have rained anyway.

Dallas has learned that not only does it rain on the just and the unjust, it also rains on those who pay and those who don't. In the joy which the needed precipitation must have brought there should be no time for quibbling over the matter of credit. The important thing is that it rained.

Pavement Plato Views News

NEW YORK (AP)—A pavement Plato views the news:

Plans for the first commercial rocket flight to the moon are going steadily forward at the Hayden Planetarium.

Thousands of prospective passengers have signed up for the initial voyage, including a number of canny real estate dealers anxious to open new areas of suburban development for Metropolitan New York.

The long waiting list also has on it the names of a number of spinsters who wish to see what the man in the moon is like. Others want to go simply because they have a desire to go anywhere out of this world.

All that is really holding up the project now is the lack of a few billion dollars to build a proper space ship. Uncle Sam, the only guy around with that kind of money, is still investing it in jet bombers and other earth-bound toys.

Margaret Phelan, the beautiful Texas night club warbler, who also is a handy gal with a skillet, recently volunteered to act as official songstress and cook for the proposed lunar voyage.

Dr. Robert R. Coles, chairman of the Hayden Planetarium, accepted the offer with alacrity, but pointed out some of the problems Miss Phelan would face:

"We have already signed up a good fiddler, and I think we could use you, too, in view of the long, frigid nights (two weeks from sunset to sunrise). We shall need plenty of hot music. The big difficulty is that there is no atmosphere on the moon, and therefore no one could hear your stuff unless you retired to the pressurized cabin of the space ship.

"Your offer to serve as cook, also, is particularly welcome, especially if you can make flapjacks.

"It is so hot on the moon by day (about 212 degrees Fahrenheit) that you could fry them directly in the sunlight on the floor of a lunar crater. And flapping them would be most fun of all since, due to the moon's lesser gravity, they would rise six times as far into the sky before coming to roost."

This dismaying era has been made even more burdensome by an endless rash of "talking dog" stories. Now, truth being ever stranger than fiction, a real spelling horse has made news.

The animal in question, "Lady Wonder" of Richmond, Va., for a buck will answer any three questions posed to her by a human being. She painstakingly muzzles out her replies letter by letter on a big spelling machine.

What is so wonderful about that? She is 28 years old after all, and her spelling is even worse than that of an 18-year-old stenographer with a progressive school education.

Personally, I see no reason why any adult should let a semi-illiterate horse poke her nose into his problems. One of the most forcing things about animals through the centuries has been the fact they haven't learned to talk and give advice. Talk is cheap, and perhaps that is why they have wisely and loyally remained silent for so long.

If Lady Wonder had any real horse sense, she wouldn't be answering questions. She'd ask them. And the first one she would spell out would be the one that has plagued all non-human creatures through the ages:

"Why do people act the way they do? What's wrong with you all anyway?"

Congressional Investigation

The 83rd Congress is likely to be an investigative body, seeking an explanation for events that occurred perhaps long ago and about which little or nothing can be done any longer, but which can guide Congress in the preparation of legislation to prevent similar acts.

For instance, the evasion of the Constitution by President Truman in the matter of the Korean War, already investigated by the Russell Committee, requires further study. Under the Charter of the United Nations, President Truman had the right to send Americans to Korea; the Charter actually amends the Constitution. Senator Bricker is fighting out that issue with a proposed amendment to the Constitution that will also require investigation and analysis.

I understand that Senator Homer Ferguson will have another look at what happened at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. There has been one investigation of that event, but it left the whole matter hanging in the air. The report of the investigators is so full of loop-holes, of omissions and the whole report is so covered with white-wash, that it may be said that no accurate statement of the Pearl Harbor incident has ever been presented to the American people.

The investigation would have to take into account not only the documentation available in the State Department and the Pentagon, but all the evidence that came out in the Tokyo trials and in the Konyoe Diaries.

The most shocking attempt at corrupting history was announced in the annual report of the Rockefeller Foundation in 1946, providing a subsidy of $139,000, concerning which Professor Harry Elmer Barnes says in his pamphlet "The Court Historians versus Revisionism":

"Even this large sum, as of the ordinary historical scholar, did not suffice, and the Sloan Foundation made a later grant. The amount is not stated, but I have heard that it brought the total up to some $200,000. This is to cover two volumes, the second of which will bring the story down through Pearl Harbor. From the above figures, it is evident that these two volumes will be the most costly in the whole history of historical writing."

By George Sokolsky

the policies and measures of President Woodrow Wilson and the Entente Allies after World War I."

Of course this cannot happen. History has a way of asserting itself and in the United States often it is the Congressional Committee that uncovers the hidden and obscure. Perhaps Senator Wiley's Committee may undertake a study of Teheran and Yalta, two events most costly in American lives, wealth and prestige. The guesses concerning Teheran and Yalta have been numerous and while considerable data has become available, the whole story has not been told. For instance, it is no longer a secret that the Japanese were pleading for peace before the Russians entered the Far Eastern War; that Japan had lost her shipping and therefore could not continue. Yet, the peace was delayed until the Russians came in and for one week of war, the Russians were placed in a position to conquer China and Korea, getting also, as an extra bonus, half of Sakhalin and the whole of the Kurile Islands.

How did all this come about? A Senate Committee, I am sure, ought to be able to discover the fact that the American military experts were sure that they could take Japan without Russia coming into the Far Eastern War.

True, all this is water over the dam, but the same cannot be said of our enormous casualties in the Korean War.

Many of my readers may know elderly people who have complained of painful cramps in the muscles of the leg. These usually occur with walking, but many elderly people also have cramps at night.

The person with this trouble is free of cramps in the day, but at night is awakened by the painful cramping. Usually this pain involves the calves of the leg, and the muscles of the calf are hard in contraction.

Relief Measures

The person vigorously rubs his legs, hops about on one foot, or applies hot towels to his leg, in hope of relieving the pain. Usually the leg remains tender for a number of hours after the attack.

These cramps are recurring, and affect quite a few people.

In a recent study of patients suffering from night cramps, all complained that it was impossible for them to sleep through the night without being disturbed with attacks. A few patients were so disturbed they had to sleep in an armchair. Such diseases as arthritis, neuritis, and spasms of the muscles were blamed as causes for these cramps.

It is believed that most cases of night cramps are due to a muscle or joint disorder. This may be traced to a calcium imbalance in some cases, but in many it is not.

Rejected as Cause

At one time it was believed that night cramps in the legs were due to a decrease of the blood circulation in the legs. This has also been rejected as the true cause.

Recently, quinine, the drug that is so effective in treating malaria, has been used in treating night cramps. When taken under the direction of a physician, who carefully regulates the dosage, quinine is found to eliminate night cramps of the legs in almost all cases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

L.L.: My brother's eyeballs frequently shift horizontally, from one side to another. What can be causing it?

Answer: From your description, it would seem that your brother is suffering from nystagmus. This may be caused by a vision difficulty or poor-fitting glasses, or eyestrain. However, some nervous disorder may also be the cause.

Neighbors Join Shooting Duel During Holdup

CLEVELAND (AP)—A shooting barrage by neighbors and the son of a tavern keeper, during a $3,000 robbery Friday, wounded two men and led to the arrest of two other persons.

Mrs. Mary Wolinski, mother of the Wolinski Tavern's owner, ran for help as three men held up a bartender.

Martin Drabek and his son Henry, called from a nearby shop, opened fire at the fleeing men. Mrs. Wolinski's son, Ray, heard the commotion, broke open a second story window and fired from there.

John Wilson, 21, and Richard Morris, 22, were arrested when they went to a hospital and a doctor's office for medical aid. Wilson, in fair condition, was quoted by police as saying he did it "so my family would have a good Christmas." Morris was reported in good condition.

Police also arrested Mrs. Dorothy Lee Howard, sister of Morris, as the driver of a getaway car. Another man, identified by patrolmen as Clarence Butler, 25, was apprehended later. The money still is missing.

Helpers Class Enjoys Annual Christmas Party

The regular meeting of the Helpers' Class of the Maple Grove Church Sunday evening was combined with a Christmas party held at the home of Freddie West with twenty-one members and fifteen guests present.

Devotions were in charge of Wilbur Van Dyke, which included the Christmas story from St. Luke, the singing of Christmas carols and prayer by Rev. Eugene Frazer.

The president, Neil Rowland, conducted a short business session and a report on the recent candy sale was given which netted the class a tidy sum.

A Christmas play to be given at the church, December 21, was planned and the meeting was closed.

During the social hour a gift exchange was enjoyed around a beautifully lighted Christmas tree which added to other Yuletide suggestions throughout the home.

The young host assisted by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan, in the serving of seasonal refreshments.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Connie Garrison.

William Horney DAR Holds Christmas Party

The William Horney Chapter of the American Revolution held their regular meeting and annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Otis Thompson in Jeffersonville, with 26 Daughters present.

The home was beautifully decorated throughout with appointments, appropriate for the holiday season.

The meeting was opened in ritualistic form by the regent, Mrs. Frank R. Marshall. The chaplain, Mrs. John Robbins, read the Christmas story as recorded in St. Luke and followed with prayer.

The Salute to the Flag was led by the flag chairman, Miss Louise Fults, and all joined in singing the National Anthem.

The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Marvin Stockwell, followed by reports of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Nathan Ervin and treasurer, Mrs. A. E. Kemp.

Mrs. Ralph N. Agle, vice regent, read the president general's message from Mrs. Marguerite C. Patton, who urged the Daughters to keep Christmas as a family tradition, stressing Christ's birthday.

Mrs. Ralph O. Whitaker, state regent, and an associate member of William Horney Chapter, brought her own Christmas message, relating several Christmas customs and their origin.

It was announced that the Board of Management had unanimously endorsed Mrs. Whitaker for the office of president general of D.A.R. and the chapter in turn voted unanimously to go on record as approving the endorsement.

Mrs. Whitaker thanked the chapter for the many courtesies they had already extended her and especially the lovely luncheon, given in her honor, recently at the Washington Court House Country Club.

Delegates were elected to National Congress of the D.A.R. to be held in Washington, D. C. in April. Mrs. Frank Marshall, regent, will be the delegate and Mrs. Ralph N. Agle and Mrs. A. E. Kemp alternates.

Mrs. Agle, as defense chairman, gave a report and urged the Daughters to write Congressmen, concerning laws they pass in regard to the decisions of the United Nations when some decisions violate the very principals on which our American government was founded.

Mrs. Agle reminded that 30 members in the United Nations face discharge as "Reds" and more than 100 already have been discharged for the same reason this year.

In keeping with the holiday season, the program consisted of the sermon by Rev. Peter Marshall, chaplain of the United States Senate at the time of his death in 1949. The title of the sermon, which was published in the current issue of Look Magazine, was "Let's Keep Christmas" and was read by Mrs. Carroll H. Ritenour.

Miss Louise Fults then reviewed the book, "Christmas at Valley Forge," which depicted the hardships endured during that frightful winter of the Revolutionary War.

The meeting then adjourned and a gala Christmas party and a gift exchange followed around the beautifully decorated Christmas tree.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee, Mrs. Vere Foster, Miss Catherine Gossard, Mrs. M. G. Morris, Mrs. G. M. Morrow, Mrs. O. J. Glaze, Mrs. G. L. Nash and Mrs. Harry Allen.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Trout spent the weekend in Marietta, where they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pierson and son, Bill.

Dr. L. Loring Brock arrived Sunday from Cheyenne, Wyoming, to spend the Christmas holidays with his mother, Mrs. L. L. Brock. Dr. Brock is stationed at the Fort Francis Air Force Base Hospital and he will be on leave until January 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Acton and family entertained at a pre-Christmas dinner on Sunday and included as guests Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mumford of Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Putman, sons Jimmy and Bobby, of South Gate, California, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Garrison, daughters Peggy and Connie of New Holland.

Mrs. Rose Lunbeck left Saturday evening for Tucson, Arizona, where she will be the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Gene Hard, Mr. Hard and their daughter, Terri, for a Christmas holiday visit.

Airman Apprentice Jim Musser arrived Saturday evening from the Bainbridge Maryland Recruiting Base, to spend a fourteen day Christmas leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Musser. He has just finished his basic training.

Mrs. Baird was wearing a brown iridescent taffeta dress with accessories of brown and lavender and her corsage of white carnations was tied with lavender ribbon.

A reception in the church basement followed immediately after the wedding and the bride's mother received the guests in a brown and white houndstooth check suit with accessories of brown and her corsage was red rosebuds.

Mrs. Duff chose a copen blue dress with black accessories and her corsage was white carnations. Hostesses were Mrs. Paul G. Pope, a sister of the groom, Mrs. Loring Duff and Mrs. Charles Duff, sisters-in-law of the groom.

The refreshment table was flanked at either end with white tapers in tall candelabra, and was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake.

When the new Mr. and Mrs. Duff left on a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a cotillion blue top coat over her wedding dress, with white gloves and her orchid was pinned at her shoulder.

Upon their return they will go at once to their new home which is

Evening Wedding Unites Couples In Marriage

The altar of Grace Methodist Church was softly lighted with white tapers in two seven-branch candelabra, Sunday evening, December 14, for the wedding of Miss Lois Jean Cherryholmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Cherryholmes of the Old Springfield Road, and Mr. Dwight Ervin Duff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Duff of the Waterloo Road.

The double ring ceremony was read by Rev. Clinton W. Swengel as the hands of the clock approached eight, and was preceded by a short program of nuptial music by Mrs. Jim McClaskie, soloist, and Mrs. Wayne Spengler, organist.

Mrs. Spengler's numbers included "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "Through the Years." She accompanied Mrs. McClaskie, who sang softly, "The Lord's Prayer," during the ceremony, and also played the traditional wedding marches.

The bride was attended by Mrs. Harland Baird of this city, as matron of honor and Mr. Loring Duff, a brother, was best man for the bridegroom.

The bride chose for her marriage a blue iridescent taffeta two-piece street length dress, fashioned with a full skirt and a fitted jacket complemented with a winter white hat and other accessories of black. She carried a white Bible topped with white shattered carnations, centered with a yellow throat white orchid with white satin streamers.

Upon their return they will go at once to their new home which is in readiness on the Waterloo Road.

The bride, a graduate of Washington C. H. High School in the class of 1950, is a member of the office force at the Fayette County Agricultural Extension Service, where she will continue her position.

The bridegroom, also a graduate of Washington C. H. High School, has since been engaged in farming with his father.

Mrs. Frazier Is Hostess To Class Members

Members of the Open Circle Class of Good Hope Methodist Church were entertained at the home of Mrs. Eugene Frazer at a luncheon and Christmas meeting on Saturday.

The home was gay and festive with Yuletide arrangements and especially outstanding was the manger scene on the living room mantel with evergreen and holly berries flanked by Santas, making up a colorful centerpiece for the table seating the twelve members at one long table and a small table for the serving of the delicious luncheon.

During the afternoon, Mrs. John Kneisley, class president, conducted a brief business session and Mrs. Scott Cardiff led in the devotions which included the Christmas story found in St. Luke, the Christmas carol, "Silent Night," the hymn, "Sweet Hour of Prayer," and the praying of the Lord's Prayer by the group.

Roll call was responded to by each member telling what Christ was meant to them.

Mrs. J. A. Yeoman was program leader, which opened with an article, "The Cobbler's Gift," by Mrs. Howard Newman; "Mrs. Brown's Christmas Dinner," was read by Mrs. John Kneisley, followed with two songs, "Silent Night" and "Rudolph, The Red-Nosed Reindeer," sung by Roger Osborne and George Garringer, with Roger accompanying on the guitar.

Mrs. Eugene Frazer read a poem entitled "Christmas Bells," and

Ohio Farmers Seeking Ag Center At OSU

Governor Estimates Proposal To Cost Total Of $18 Million

By REED SMITH
COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Farmers, who conduct a billion-dollar business annually in Ohio, want an agricultural center established at Ohio State University.

An Action Committee for Agricultural Research and Education headed by H. E. Frederick of Marysville outlined an expanded farm program for Gov. Frank J. Lausche's consideration.

The governor, without offering an opinion, estimated the committee's proposals would require additional appropriations of more than $18 million dollars in the next two years.

The action committee's program envisions an agricultural center west of the Olentangy River from the OSU campus along lines of the university's Medical Center.

It is needed to serve as a focal point for all agricultural interests of the state and to relieve the congested, inadequate facilities now available for agricultural students, the committee said.

The group said present buildings were designed for half the number now enrolled in agriculture and home economics courses. The present Agriculture College enrollment is 1,434 and the school of home economics 556.

The veterinary college is overcrowded and can take less than a third of those who apply for entrance, the report added.

The committee program proposed $6,400,000 worth of new buildings for the College of Agriculture and $6,550,000 for new structures in the College of Veterinary Medicine.

Sought for the Agricultural College are a two million dollar administration and classroom building, dairy center, meats laboratory, agricultural engineering building, agronomy building, horticulture and forestry building with greenhouses, and some additions.

New Veterinary College Buildings would include a basic science unit with classrooms, a clinical unit with an X-ray department and a research unit.

Increases for operating the Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster would total $1,425,000 mostly for maintenance and personnel. Another $2,700,000 is sought for new buildings, land and equipment. This includes a one million dollar agronomy and forestry building, a service building and an engineering laboratory.

Sought for the agricultural extension service at Ohio State University is another $920,000. The service received $543,770 for the year ending June 30, 1953. The agricultural experiment station got $998,113 for the same period.

Sought for agricultural research is an additional $614,000 for two years. The division of vocational education in the state education department had a two-year appropriation of $1,030,000.

The committee said less than 12 per cent of Ohio's population is engaged in producing food and fiber on farms.

This serves to emphasize efficiency of production, making each acre, each animal produce increasingly greater amounts, the committee said.

"This requires research and the educational assistance that gets new technology applied. Most new advances in agriculture require from 10 to 15 years of educational effort before any great percentage of farmers adopt them."

"Acceleration of this adoption is a job for agricultural extension, supported by an aggressive program of resident instruction for students, and short courses for adults."

The committee said its program reflects "the thinking of every segment of related interests in the future welfare of Ohio."

Business Capitalizes on Election

By RAY TUCKER
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15—Private industry and business have moved fast to capitalize on the Eisenhower election and to escape from "Trumanism." In every field they have taken charge of the nation's economic machine and with the apparent acquiescence of the lonely man in the White House.

The outgoing President and his Fair Deal associates, by their unwonted silence and inaction, seem to recognize that the 20-year era of federal domination, interference and controls has ended. It amounts to an amazing but understandable surrender of ideologies and prerogatives.

Although a political promise motivated Truman's decision to overrule his Wage Stabilization Board, Defense Mobilizer Fowler and Economic Stabilizer Putnam in granting John L. Lewis's coal miners an unjustifiable wage raise, Truman simply bowed to new economic trends and forces. He thereby admitted that, temporarily at least, wage-price ceilings and other forms of government restrictions are outmoded.

FREE MARKET—The underlying fact is that private industry has won its long battle for relative freedom from a Washington straitjacket. To use a football figure, it has stolen the economic ball from Uncle Sam on its own one-yard line.

In short, industry is producing such an unprecedented abundance of consumer's goods, plus $40 billion of military hardware every twelve months, that Uncle Sam can no longer dictate terms to the producers, sellers, workers and buyers.

For the first time since 1933, manufacturers, the workingmen and consumers meet and deal in a relatively free market. They do not have to submit their arrangements to the bureaucrats for prior approval.

Eisenhower may ask Congress to retain wage-price control laws for their reapplication in a serious emergency. But the outlook for federal intervention on a Truman-Roosevelt scale is remote, barring global conflict.

REACTION—While natural, supply-and-demand forces appear to have brought about this great social and economic change there is ground for suspicion that manufacturers and businessmen have combined consciously to effect it. They have shown a new spirit, determination and energy since Nov. 4. They look and behave like released prisoners, although some think they may only be on parole.

Whatever the reason or inspiration, they are turning out civilian and defense goods in unprecedented volume, paying higher wages, lowering prices and providing a growing market for satisfied buyers. In view of long-range prospects here and abroad, some of these developments defy traditions and expectations.

It may be their way of saying that "We like Ike."

TACTICS—In another and ironic sense, it is argued that Truman may have been hoist by his own politico-economic petard. When he ordered the police action in Korea, also proclaiming a state of national crisis several months later, he imposed controls which he expected to last indefinitely.

His aides believed that the Cold War difficulties would furnish the basis and excuse for further federal domination. They anticipated another period of crisis economy that would re-elect Truman or install a Democrat as his successor. HST used this kind of argument in the campaign, insisting that only his Party could execute his foreign and domestic policies.

He characterized Eisenhower as a sort of economic ignoramus who was unfit to discharge these grave responsibilities.

CONTRIBUTIONS—But the extra plant capacity which Truman demanded and financed after June 25, 1950, has now become so productive a machine that the government has lost its dictatorial and bargaining power over the manufacturers, the producers and the workers. It does not need the artificial application of political grease or the manipulation of partisan mechanics.

Truman also has provided an extremely favorable climate, atmosphere—call it what you will—for Eisenhower's appearance on the national scene. He has contributed to the Ike boom, albeit unintentionally.

Every economic index supports this theory, to wit:

The price level of sensitive commodities has fallen by 33 per cent since the post-Korean peak in January, 1951. Industrial products have dropped by about 40 per cent, foodstuffs by 22 per cent. Meat at the packing centers is lower than at any time since March, 1950, although the fall has not yet been reflected fully at the corner butcher's.

The only effective remaining controls apply to building materials required for defense manufacture. But only recently they were softened with respect to home construction and even for amusement parks preparing for next summer's season.

Makers of consumer goods—

cars, stoves, refrigerators, home freezers, radio and television sets—are cutting prices on old models to make room for future output.

Warren Girl Singers Faint In Groups

WARREN (AP)—Girls in Warren high school choir have been fainting—in groups as high as seven—right in the middle of their song.

Just a fad, said School Supt. Paul A. Miller today. The first girl swooned, he said, and the others followed suit.

Anyway, seven girls fainted Tuesday, while singing for the Exchange Club. On Wednesday, six swooned at the Rotary luncheon. The Kiwanians were startled Thursday to see five pass out.

Dr. Carl F. Scheig, the choir director, thinks the girls should eat something before a performance. Or, he says, maybe it's "auto-suggestion."

Friday, singing before the school assembly, all stayed on their feet. Doctors have checked the girls after each fainting spell and have failed to find anything wrong.

Autoist Killed

POMEROY (AP)—When his car upset on a one-lane bridge about 30 miles northwest of here Friday night, John J. Clark, 25, of Zanesville was killed.

TV Network For Ohio Seen In Proposal

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio soon may have a network of educational television stations which can potentially reach into any home in the state.

The network is proposed in a report adopted Friday by the Ohio Program Commission. It would tie in five state universities, Ohio State, Kent, Bowling Green, Miami and Ohio University, educational TV stations in Cleveland and Cincinnati and—possibly later—private schools which wish to participate.

Commission chairman Roscoe R. Walcutt hailed educational television as possibly "the greatest single development in mass education since public schools were established."

The network is designed to take advantage of ultra-high frequency channels reserved for educational television by the Federal Communications Commission.

Con Is Accused

COLUMBUS (AP)—Peter Cabral Jr., 28, of Cleveland, pleaded innocent Friday to a first-degree murder charge in the beating death of Odell Hicks of Dayton, a fellow inmate in Ohio Penitentiary.

Price Of Homes To Hold, Claim

WASHINGTON (AP)—The price of homes isn't coming down any time soon, the National Association of Real Estate Boards predicts.

The association's report is based on a survey of real estate boards in 245 communities. Ninety-one per cent of the boards taking part in the survey predicted stable or even higher prices for new homes during the next six months; only 9 per cent forecast prices would drop.

Needy Youngsters Are Adopted For Christmas under Plan of Group of Citizens in Tulsa

By MARIAN ROGERS
(Central Press Association)
TULSA, Okla.— Sometimes it doesn't take much to make a Christmas miracle—just tears of lonely people, some ragged slum tykes and a man like Chauncey Moore who has a heart as big as Santa's pack.

Moore, a Tulsa probation officer, is the founder of Holiday Children, Inc., a new kind of "corporation" which adopts needy youngsters into foster homes for Christmas. It is run from a file cabinet, has no charter and its stockholders are couples who long for a child's laughter on Christmas morning.

The plan reaps a golden harvest. Slum kids find dolls, fire trucks and college educations under the Christmas tree. Unemployed fathers get jobs and tired, overworked mothers believe again in Christmas angels. Most of all, it's everybody's program. "Adopting" parents include millionaires, office clerks, physicians, oil men, carpenters and people from all walks of life.

Each year Moore wraps up the old Christmas story in shining new hope and makes the cynical feel an inner glow that they thought was forever lost. The genial, silver-haired probation officer finds the children, okayes the Christmas visit and handles the details.

SINCE 1947 Moore has given "dream" Christmas to 325 needy youngsters. Last year a bumper crop of 73 was harvested and Moore expects more underprivileged children to participate this year.

Moore's Christmas career began in December, 1947. He was chatting with a couple in his office while a "Tulsa World" reporter waited outside to see him. Moore remarked with a heavy sigh that children of parents on probation from prison sentences generally grow up under tragic conditions—evil companions, filthy, disease-infected homes and neglect.

Listening to Moore, the woman felt sick at heart. She and her husband were childless and had tried for years to adopt a child. Impulsively she plucked at Moore's sleeve. "Please," she said. "Please get us a child like that." The tears blurred the words.

Now Chauncey Moore is a big Scots-Irishman with a heart as soft as melted custard. Also childless, he knew how his friends felt but he also knew the rigid structure of present adoption laws. How could he help?

MAYBE THE ANGELS whispered in Moore's ear. Suddenly he wondered why a needy child couldn't be placed in the couple's home—just for Christmas.

Moore outlined his plan and offered to supply the child. "Show him what a real Christmas can be like," he suggested. "Buy toys. Stuff him with turkey. Make a real spree out of it!"

The idea caught the couple's fancy. Eagerly they agreed. After they left the office, Moore sat at his desk, thinking rapidly. He forgot about the waiting reporter who had heard every word. Already worried about his promise, Moore grinned wryly at reporter John Ammon when he walked into the room.

"I've stuck my neck out, John," Moore said. "It'll be just like looking for a needle in a haystack."

Moore groaned. The newsman shook his head. "No, it won't Chauncey," he remarked cheerfully. "I'll write up a story. Maybe some needy family will help us out."

That night John Ammon wrote up the story. The city editor read it and then stared into space, thinking of the new bicycle he'd bought for his boy. Then he carefully gave the story a front-page spot and sent it to the composing room.

NEXT MORNING Moore found himself in the role of Christmas stork. The story had touched a big town's heart, turning it inside out. In no time, the original couple got a child for their Christmas and Moore was in the Yuletide "lend-lease" business.

This December will mark the sixth year of Moore's Christmas adoption program. Moore and his secretary are bracing themselves for the stampede.

Once more newspapers will help out with a new series of feature articles. Tulsans will read anew the account of this modern miracle and grow misty-eyed over it. Radio broadcasts will put a lump in listeners' throats.

Possibly the angels themselves will smile over it and bend a little closer to the earth. It's just the kind of thing that would make an angel glad.

Tulsa loves Holiday Children, Inc. It is a gift that is wrapped in tears and tied with laughter. It comes from the lonely and is given to the needy. Any American city could to the same thing. Only you have to find a good man like Chauncey Moore who loves little children.

The human heart will do the rest.

Only Modest Tax Cut, If Any, Seen

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (AP)— The new Congress, although wistfully eyeing a tax cut for the homefolks next year, seems to be more anxious to chop federal spending and balance the budget first.

The result could be only modest tax reductions, if any, before 1954.

That's the prospect reflected in an Associated Press survey of incoming congressmen throughout the country.

The survey showed one thing for sure: On the touchy subject of taxes, congressmen's views are scattered in all directions.

Scores of lawmakers indicated they feel keenly a voters' protest against high taxes — a protest fanned by President-elect Eisenhower during the campaign. But Eisenhower hasn't taken his stand on any specific tax cuts yet. And the absence of cues from the new White House contributed to a lack of any overwhelming trend toward any single program among the 268 senators and representatives.

In the House, where tax bills tieciating in the poll.

In the House, where tax bills must start, 83 lawmakers lined up more or less positively for tax cuts now.

But 27 House members said tax reductions now are unlikely or unwise; and 68 said the budget should be balanced before Congress starts chipping away at federal income. That adds up to 95 reprethose taking a stand—who want to go slow, or not go at all, on revenue cuts.

The Senate was even more cautious. Only 10 senators took an outright stand for early tax cuts, while 12 stood up in opposition. And 18 senators—including several of the most influential—said let's balance the budget first and then see what can be done about cutting taxes.

Opinion was divided closely on what taxes should be reduced whenever Congress gets around to it. Among lawmakers mentioning specific types of reductions, 42 said they wanted to cut individual income taxes; 40 asked for cuts in excise (sales) taxes, and 39 want-taxes on business, bringing in about 2½ billion dollars annually, will be eliminated.

Dec. 31, 1933—Individual income taxes will drop back to lower levels, cutting revenue by three billions annually. The drop will be from the present 22½ per cent tax rate to 20 per cent on net incomes of $2,000 or less; from 66 per cent to 59 per cent on incomes of $22,000 to $26,000.

April 1, 1954 — Excise or sales taxes drop back by one billion, chiefly on alcoholic beverages, gasoline, cigarettes and sporting goods; corporation income taxes decline on the same date by two billion annually.

On the Senate side, such prominent Republican members of the Finance Committee as Taft (Ohio), Millikin (Colo.) and Martin (Pa.) indicated they want to trim spending before embarking on tax cuts. And Sen. Bridges (NH), a likely choice for GOP floor leader, has insisted on budget balancing before tax cuts.

Southern Democrats, who have teamed with Republicans in the past, also were strong for balancing the budget.

Plans for the annual March of Dimes in Washington C. H. and throughout Fayette County today were beginning to take definite form after the appointment of Dr. Charles R. Griffiths as the chairman for this campaign.

The appointment of Dr. Griffiths was made by the executive committee of the Fayette County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. William Junk is the chairman of the committee and J. Roush Burton is the treasurer. Other members are Mrs. Robert Minshall, L. M. Hayes, Cam Dwee, Robert Sanderson and William Lovell.

The March of Dimes by now is a familiar event to nearly every American. It was started by Franklin D. Roosevelt, soon after he was first inaugurated for president in 1932, as a means for raising funds to fight dread infantile paralysis, now more commonly known as polio.

President Roosevelt was himself a victim of the crippling malady and the first March of Dimes was held on his birthday. It featured big parties, dance, and the like. Since then, however, the movement has expanded into a month-long campaign that probably gets as much or more publicity and promotion as anything of its kind anywhere.

HALF OF THE MONEY contributed to the March of Dimes remains in the community that gave it. It is used for treatment of polio sufferers and is administered by the county committee.

The other half goes to the headquarters of the national foundation where it is used to finance research and treatment.

A national fund has been created by contributions that go to national headquarters from all over the country and local communities may draw on this should their own funds be exhausted in battling an epidemic or some other unexpected situation.

Dr. Griffiths said the campaign would get underway in Fayette County on Jan. 2 and continue throughout the month.

There are to be several special fund-raising features, but the details for them have not yet been worked out.

One of the highlights is to be the Mothers March or Porchlight Parade, he said. Mrs. Charles Hurtt has been named chairman for this; she is the only committee head picked to date.

Dr. Griffiths said the other committees would be named in the immediate future, probably within a week, so they could lay their plans before the Jan. 2 start of the March of Dimes.

No goal has been set for the campaign, but Junk expressed the committee's hope that the fund this year would exceed that of last year when approximately $5,500 was contributed.

Wainwright OKs Provo Loyalty

NEW YORK (AP)—Lt. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright says he never heard of any disloyalty of John David Provoo when the two were prisoners of the Japanese after the fall of Corregidor in 1942.

Wainwright, now retired, testified Friday under subpoena as a defense witness in the federal court treason trial of Provo, former American Army sergeant charged with going over to the Japanese while a prisoner of war. Wainwright, left in command of American forces in the Philippines after Gen. Douglas MacArthur was transferred to Australia, spent two hours on the witness stand.

"There is No Substitute For

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's military plane output is slated to PISA, Italy (P)—Getting worried the Leaning Tower of Pisa might fall before you are able to visit it? After this year's final examination of the tower's steadily increasing tilt, Public Works Director Edmond Natoni announced that "there is no immediate danger it will fall."

The tower's slant is increasing at the same rate as recorded for the last quarter of a century. At that rate, it will not topple for another 150 years. The 7-century-old tower now leans almost 18 feet out of line.

The Republican Party of the United States was first organized in 1854.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government scientists credited with enabling the United States to gain a two-year lead over Russia in designing faster-than-sound planes have been announced as winners of this year's Collier Trophy.

The trophy is generally regarded as aviation's highest award. It goes this time to John Stack, 44, assistant director of the Langley Aeronautical Laboratory at Langley Field, Va., and his associates in the development of a transonic wind tunnel.

Junior Cage Squad To Start Tuesday

Varsity and Reserve basketball squads have been claiming almost all of the spotlight at Washington C. H. High School ever since the end of the football season five weeks ago, but now they are going to have to share a bit of it with the Junior High School basketballers.

Not that the Juniors have not been busy during all this time, for they have been; it's just that they are now ready to start playing a regular schedule of 12 inter-school games of their own.

Their first game is slated for the WHS gym Tuesday afternoon with the Juniors from Mt. Sterling.

All games on the Junior schedule are to start at 3:30 P. M., right after classes are dismissed for the day.

On days when the Juniors are playing here, the Varsity and Reserve squads will have to hold their practice sessions later in the day. It has been customary for them to take the floor for workouts—first the Varsity and then the Reserves—right after school.

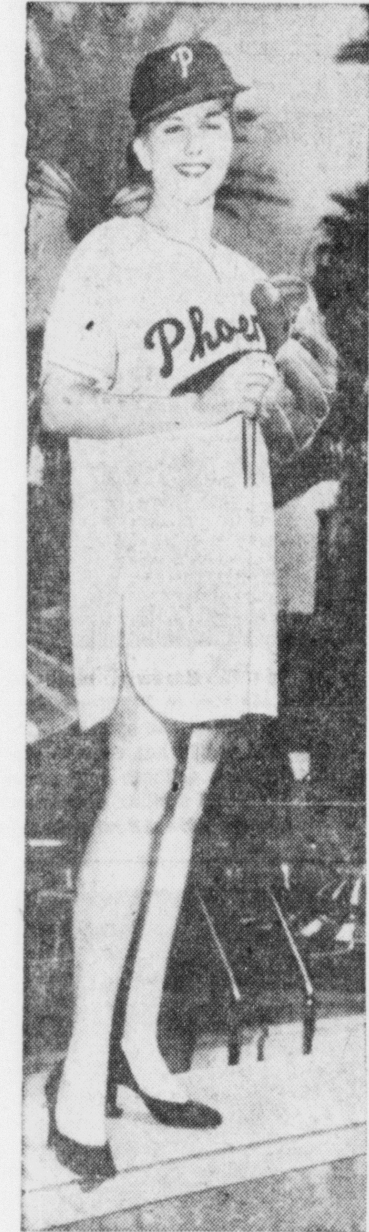

The Juniors have been practicing from 5:30 P. M. until 7 P. M. daily on the WHS gym. They have been taking the floor after the Varsity and Reserves finish their practices.

THE JUNIOR SQUAD this year is made up of 24 boys in the seventh and eighth grades. The squad has been subdivided into two squads by Coach Fred Jacoby—the A squad and the B squad, both within the whole Junior squad. There are 12 boys on each squad.

Coach Jacoby explained that the boys have an opportunity to move up to the A squad, or back to the B squad, on their ability and showing in practice and games.

Although Jacoby is the head football coach for WHS, he has had a lot of experience coaching basketball, too. He also acts as the scout for the Varsity and Reserve squads.

He said of the Juniors: "Of course a lot of enthusiasm and ambition is built up in this age group of boys...they really love to play."

QUEEN of the Arizona-Texas leagues, Edie Lou Rugenstein, Phoenix, Ariz., college co-ed, serves as official greeter at the major-minor league meetings in Phoenix. (International)

Coach Harry Townsend of the WHS Varsity and Coach Curt Koons of the Reserves agree with Jacoby that the way to have good Varsity squads is to start with the Juniors and bring them along through the Reserves.

WHILE THE JUNIORS do not capture the public fancy in the same measure as do the Varsity and Reserves, their games are regarded as of primary importance, both as a sport for the younger boys and as a builder of Varsity teams in the future.

On the A squad right now are Eldon Brown, Lenny Bach, Charles Dadds, Terry Dray, Dick English, Elton Griffith, Frank Hill, Bob Hunter, Ronnie Knisley, Bryant Phillips, Ed Sheets and Tom Swain.

On the B squad are Marvin Arnold, John Bainter, Henry Blake, Paul Cox, Kenny Evans, Gary Foster, Ed Jones, Jim Mason, Danny Miller, Larry Miltstead, Roger Shackelford and Ronnie West.

Larry Foster and Bob Butcher are the managers.

The 12-game Junior schedule follows:

Dec. 16—Mt. Sterling
Dec. 18—Circleville
Jan. 8—At Wilmington
Jan. 13—London (4 P. M.)
Jan. 15—Greenfield
Jan. 20—At Mt. Sterling
Jan. 29—Hillsboro
Feb. 5—At Circleville
Feb. 10—Jeffersonville
Feb. 12—Wilmington
Feb. 19—At Greenfield
Feb. 23—At Hillsboro.

Soltau Wins Scoring Toga In Pro Loop

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The San Francisco 49ers' veteran Gordon Soltau edged into the 1952 National Football League scoring championship Sunday by kicking a field goal and three points after touchdown in the battle with the Green Bay Packers.

Statistics released here by the NFL show Soltau wound up the campaign with 94 points, thus regaining the top spot held about 24 hours over the weekend by end Cloyce Box of the Detroit Lions who tallied three touchdowns for 18 points against the Dallas Texans Saturday.

Box nosed out Lou Groza of the Cleveland Browns for the runner-up spot. Box had 90 points, the "Educated Toe" 89.

Dan Towler of the Los Angeles Rams wound up with 894 yards gained on 156 carries to take honors in that class. Eddie Price of the New York Giants did not see action Sunday but held onto second place with a total of 748 yards gained. Joe Perry of the 29ers picked up 109 yards to take over third spot with 725 yards.

Groza set a new league record for the most field goals booted in a season. Lou's 19 this year bettered the old mark of 13 held jointly by himself and Bob Waterfield.

Groza also set a new mark of 104 straight conversions, 20 more than the old record held by Philadelphia's Cliff Patton.

Burke Collects Miami Open Win

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Jack Burke, handsome young ex-Marine from Houston, Tex., won the $10,000 Miami Open golf tournament in a "sudden death" playoff Sunday to finish the 1952 circuit with the third biggest bankroll among the touring professionals.

Burke's pressure-packed win over Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., earned him a first prize of $2,000 and boosted his winnings for the year to $21,003. The 29-year-old Burke ended the 72-hole route in a deadlock with Mayer at 273, seven under par. His victory over Mayer came on the fifth extra hole.

Good Hope Cagers Trounce Marshall

Good Hope went on a scoring rampage Saturday night to swamp Marshall in a basketball game, 80 to 45, played on the Good Hope court.

This was the biggest amount of points that Good Hope has piled up this season against any one team. Good Hope has a record of five wins and four defeats for the season.

Eight of the Good Hope basketballers took part in the scoring with McFadden taking the honors with a total of 19. Bush was close behind with a total of 17 points while Baird registered a total of 13 points and Cupp a total of 12 markers.

The Reserves played most of the last period for Good Hope.

Good Hope was leading by a good margin at the end of the first quarter (20 to 9) and made it even better at the end of the half leading, 40 to 22.

Scott was the high scorer for Marshall. He made eight field goals and one free throw for a total of 17 points.

The Good Hope Reserves also piled up a big margin in winning over the Marshall Reserves, 45 to 15.

Hren Is Added To North Squad

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The North squad for the Jan. 3 Senior Bowl game today boasted a potent backfield addition in the Big Ten's leading 1952 scorer.

Chuck Hren Northwestern's 200-pound fullback, is among 21 players now on the North team's roster. He led his conference with 48 points this season. He joined Indiana tackle Ed Roth and guard Pete Russo in signing for the annual classic here.

Illini Cagers Out To Keep Big 10 Crown

CHICAGO (AP)—Illinois will open its campaign tonight for a third straight Big Ten basketball title—an accomplishment unmatched in the conference for 38 years.

The Illini, top-ranked nationally in pre-season polls, start their league schedule at home against Michigan after only one warmup game. Last week in the season debut, Illinoisdowned Loyola of Chicago 71-57 as Johnny Kerr, 6-10 center, pumped in 34 points.

Michigan's revitalized team, with a souped-up fast-break introduced by new Coach Bill Perigo, was cooled off 85-77 by Iowa in Iowa City Saturday in the opening Big Ten game of the season.

In non-conference action Saturday, Kansas State edged Indiana, 82-80, with the Hoosiers' Don Schlund heading a last quarter rally after being benched with four fouls; Butler nipped Ohio State 63-60; Purdue defeated Wabash 87-64; and Minnesota trimmed Nebraska 71-62.

Mulloy Gets No. 1 Ranking On Tennis List

NEW YORK (AP)—The oldest player in at least four decades to reach the finals of the National Championships and one of the youngest women ever acc... national honors have been tentatively ranked first in the 1952 ratings of the U. S. Lawn Tennis Association.

But there probably will be considerable argument before 38-year-old Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., is approved as the No. 1 male player at the association's annual meeting Jan. 17.

There's little likelihood, however, of a change in the Ranking Committee's selection of teen-aged Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., as the country's foremost woman player. She has won the national crown two straight years and the 1952 All-England title at Wimbledon in completely out classing her rivals.

The committee placed the Davis Cup captain, Vic Seixas, in the No. 2 spot. Mulloy was ranked with Bill Talbert of New York as the No. 1 doubles team.

Below Mulloy and Seixas in the men's singles, the committee ranked Dick Savitt, Orange, N. J.; Herb Flam, Beverly Hills, Calif.; Talbert; Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La.

The University of North Carolina has its own 18-hole golf course and club house.

Two County Teams Play Tuesday Night

Bloomington and Jeffersonville will have the only county high school teams playing basketball Tuesday night.

The Bloomington Bulldogs will play hosts to Monroe Township while the Tigers of Jeffersonville will travel to South Solon for their game.

Jeffersonville won an overtime thriller from the Bulldogs last Friday evening in the only league tussle played, 38 to 36.

The Bulldogs will be after their sixth victory of the season as against four defeats. They have a one and one record for league play. Jeffersonville has two league games to its credit against one setback. The Tigers have suffered only two defeats for the season in eight games.

Friday night's games will put Good Hope's Mad Anthony's against the Bloomington's Bulldogs in a league contest on the Good Hope court, Madison Mills will play at OSSO home in Xenia and New Holland will entertain Saltcreek in a Pickaway County League contest.

Jeffersonville will play again Saturday night and will take on South Eastern on the Jeffersonville floor.

National Pin Contest Titles Are Awarded

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Marion Ladewig, the invincible bowling champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., started her Christmas shopping today with $600.

That's the amount she picked up Sunday night after breezing to her fourth straight National All-Star title. The crown is worth many times more than the prize award in endorsements and exhibitions.

In the 32 game finals of the nine-day meet, Mrs. Ladewig won 24 and lost only eight. She spilled 6,539 pins for an average of 204 and totalled 154.29 Petersen points.

Shirley Garms of Palatine, Ill., was second with 142.05 points.

The $2,000 men's award went to 26-year-old Don Carter of Detroit, who averaged 205 through 64 games for 304.17 points.

Ed Lubanski, also of Detroit, matched Carter by winning 41 and losing 23 but trailed in pins 13,167.

to 12,836. Lubanski's point score was third and Junie McMahon, defending champion from Fairlawn, N. J., took fourth.

Old Boston Party Tea Leaves Used

BOSTON (AP)—A spot of tea claimed to be made from leaves missed by revolutionists Dec. 16, 1773, was sipped Sunday in commemoration of the 179th anniversary of the Boston Tea Party.

A group of 13 descendants of Revolutionary War families and the British vice consul, Mrs. Muriel Rolls, toasted each other from 70-year-old teacups made in England. Edward Rowe Snow, an author, said he obtained the tea leaves from the late Jefferson Haskell Parker who reportedly obtained the leaves from a descendant of a survivor of the historic tea party who died in 1846.

Cakes of salt often have been used as money.

Big New '53 FORD

THE NEW STANDARD OF THE AMERICAN ROAD!

With 41 "Worth More" features...

it's worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it!

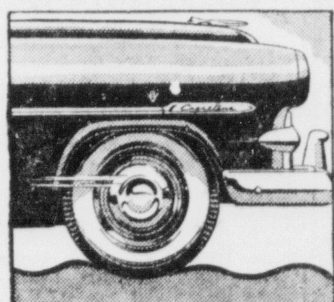

This '53 Ford sets an entirely new standard for the American Road. For in this big new Ford you'll find 41 "Worth More" features that give you more of the things you want... more of the things you need... than ever before in low-priced car history.

You'll find the "Go" you need to handle today's long-distance driving... the economy you want on long trips or short. You'll enjoy Ford's new Miracle Ride that brings you the smooth, quiet riding comfort you need for today's level parkways or rough, rutted byways... plus nearly effortless steering, braking, and parking. And you'll see beauty that belongs wherever you may drive.

When you see this new Ford at your Ford Dealer's, when you Test Drive it and Value Check it, you'll understand why it is worth more when you buy it... worth more when you sell it. You'll agree that here, indeed, is the New Standard of the American Road!

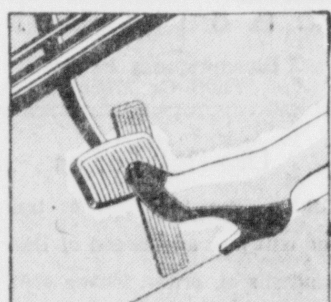

A few of the 41 "Worth More" features in the 1953 Ford

NEW MIRACLE RIDE—Not just more responsive spring and shock absorber action, not just foam rubber cushions, but a balanced ride that gives you an entirely new concept of comfort.

SHIFT TO FORDOMATIC—and you'll never shift again. It's the finest, most versatile automatic drive ever built. And remember, Ford also offers the smooth and thrifty Overdrive.

POWER-PIVOT PEDALS—are suspended from above to eliminate duty, drafty floor holes. They give more unobstructed floor space and provide easier operation of brake and clutch pedals.

CENTER-FILL FUELING—prevents hose marks, and makes "filling up" easier from either side of the gasoline pump. Shorter gas filler pipe gives you trunk space for an extra suitcase.

FULL-CIRCLE VISIBILITY—with huge, curved, one-piece windshield, a car wide, one-piece rear window and big picture windows all around—gives you visibility unlimited.

No wonder the swing is to FORD!

Steel Nerves and Good Memory Essential for Grain Broker

By ROBERT J. GUERINK
(Central Press Association)

CHICAGO—If you're made of tougher stuff than a cleat-stamped doormat outside a Notre Dame football squad's locker room, you might do as a broker on the thronged, noisy floor of Chicago's Board of Trade.

Your hours will be easy, from 9:30 in the morning to 1:45 in the afternoon, but you won't have an easy time of it. Facial tics and twitching shoulder muscles are some of the occupational hazards a broker runs up against after he's been in the business a while.

A Board of Trade broker's job is to buy and sell oats, cotton, wheat, corn, soybeans, or rye while the prices of these things change faster than a woman's mind in a hat shop. He stands in a raised, eight-sided "pit," and makes his bids to a crowd of other brokers in there with him—men wearing crumpled, yellow, wheat-colored jackets with pockets full of pencils and scraps of paper.

Before a broker goes on the floor, he usually slips into a pair of old battered shoes to ease the gaff on his feet during four hours of constant standing. Some brokers wear the same old pair for years; they think it brings them luck.

With hands flying up all over the trading floor, deals worth thousands of dollars can be made faster than a rush hour bus driver grabs a transfer. The din of hundreds of hollering voices all over the place is so deafening that hand signals are used.

THESE gestures are pretty complicated. For instance, a hand held up with palm outward means a broker wants to sell. If his palm is inward, he wants to buy. Every finger he sticks up stands for 5,000 bushels of corn, wheat or whatever's being traded in the particular pit where he's standing.

If a broker shakes his clenched fist in the air, he isn't boiling mad—or a Communist. The fist simply means he's offering to buy or sell for one cent over the market price.

Every deal made this way is an iron-clad contract, just like any piece of paper two people putter over for hours and sign in a lawyer's quiet office. You can see how much responsibility rides on a broker's flicking fingers—he might make 200 trades a day, and can't afford to make a mistake.

If a broker is trading for a big Chicago brokerage firm, he may have to shell out $5,000 of his own money to pay for a boner. Imagine you had to memorize the serial numbers of 15 one-dollar bills some one rapidly counted into your hand; that's virtually what a broker has

Use Of Bleach Costs Man $50

COLUMBUS, O.—Last March Frank Reid, 25, was arrested for speeding. The traffic law violation was duly entered on the back of his driver's license.

Friday, he tried to pay a fine for cashing a red light Dec. 3. The March violation, however, didn't appear on the license.

Reid told police he had experimented with the entry with a household bleach to see if the bleach would remove ink on some other papers he was filling out. Municipal Judge Wayne Fogle fined Reid $50 and costs for "altering or defacing an operator's license."

Toledo Broker Is Sued By OPS

TOLEDO, O.—The Office of Price Stabilization today sued a Toledo food broker in federal court today for treble damages on charges of selling potatoes above ceiling prices last April.

The government sought $5,622 from the J. T. Gila Co., alleging the firm sold white potatoes at up to $2.09 over the 100-pound bag ceiling price.

NEWS VIEWS

BY RAY BRANDENBURG

Christmas shopping is in full swing. I believe I could pick a football team of enthusiastic lady shoppers that would give the Browns or any other team a good scrap.

I had waited patiently about fifteen minutes in front of the short counter in a certain store for the clerk to finish with his customer when with a rush and a "pardon me" and a determined look on her face she got right in front of me. Oh, well, maybe somebody will take pity on me and buy me a shirt for Christmas. I wear a size 17½-3 and I don't like white and that's another thing. Judging from the way the clerks stare at me when I tell them my size I must be the only man who has a 17½ neck.

Our tribe went to Cleveland last week to attend our Ohio Automobile Dealer's convention. Met a lot of fine folks from all over the state, renewed a lot of old friendships and made many new ones.

The boys ran across Mr. & Mrs. Ralph Nisley who were attending a grange meeting. Mr. & Mrs. John Weade were also in town but I didn't see them. Congratulations Ralph on your job as State Grange treasurer.

We had our annual Christmas party Sunday eve. Our men folks after a hearty meal of ham, oyster dressing and all the trimmings put on the program. It was a mixture of: I have a secret - What's my line - and Hollywood guess stars. Of course the wives made up the panel. Such secrets you never heard. If TV hears about it no doubt many of our ladies will be invited to be on a regular TV show.

Rev. Alexander teaching the men's Bible Class of Grace Methodist Church said one thing last Sunday that stuck with me: "Quote 'Even if all five senses, taste, smell, feel, sight and hearing are good and you don't have the sixth one—common sense—none of the others are much good.'"

Use common sense and come out to Brandenburg's. Get a pair of those snow tread tires and be safe. Also we have a beautiful accessory display to solve your gift problem. We'll be looking for you.

Commie Menace In Far East Is Described Here

Young Missionary From Burma At
Christian Church

The threat of Communism in countries behind the Iron Curtain in the Orient was described by Laverne Morse, a young missionary who spent virtually his entire life in Burma, to an audience that filled the First Christian Church here Sunday evening.

Morse, 23 years old, is a student at the Cincinnati Bible Seminary now. He came to the United States only recently after he had rejoined his parents in Hong Kong where they were following his father's release from a Communist prison where he was held on charges of being an American spy.

The Sunday night service was another of the special services held at the church once a month. Rev. Don McMillin, said it was in line with the church's program of missionary work and education.

These services, the minister said, do not take the place of the regular Sunday morning worship services.

Morse was accompanied here by five other students at the seminary. Leon McMillin, the son of Rev. and Mrs. McMillin, led the singing for the evening and Miss Lois Elliott was the soloist for the special musical part of the services. The other three were Miss Lois Workman, Paul Pratt and Joe Sullivan.

MORSE CHOSE for his subject: "Christianity Behind the Iron Curtain."

He said: "We need to realize the threat that is presented by Communism to throw over every thing that we hold dear to us and love in this world. We do not realize the strong threat the Communism has in overthrowing what Christianity there has been established in China."

"Sometimes we think that America is not the Christian nation that it should be, but in comparison is a Christian nation."

His parents started the missionary work in China about 30 years ago when some of these people had never seen a white man and thought that the white man was a ghost or an evil spirit, he said and adding:

"These people had no means of writing or reading. They had to show and teach them how to read and write so that they could teach them the words of the Lord Jesus Christ."

"They worshipped different types of spirits. When misfortune came into a household, they thought to be the evil spirits. These people for past generations have lived in a world of fear."

"A word had to be devised to express love to them because they did not have a word for that in their language."

"When they started talking with these people about a Supreme Being who created the heavens and the earths, they said they had heard their grandfathers and great grandfathers speak of a Supreme Being, but that they had forgotten how to worship Him and were worshipping the spirits."

"After talking with these awhile

County Courts

TO TRANSFER REALTY

Authority has been granted in the Bertha I. Haynes estate to transfer all real estate to Howard E. Haynes.

WILL IS FILED

The will of George Elmer Yahm has been filed for probate.

WILL IS RECORDED

The will of Ezra T. Rockwell, bearing the date of March 16, 1921, and witnessed by two Marion residents, has been probated and recorded. His entire estate was left to his widow, Olive W. Rockwell.

ADMINISTRATRIX NAMED

Sarah J. Matthews has been appointed administratrix of the estate of Jesse F. Matthews, and furnished $5,000 bond.

APPOINTMENT MADE

The probate court has appointed Pauline A. Cannon administratrix of the estate of Robert F. Cannon.

WILL PROBATED

The will of Florence H. Welge has been probated, and she left her entire estate to her mother, Mrs. Lena Murphy, who she also named as executrix of the estate. The will was dated Nov. 1, 1952 and witnessed by Alice E. Campbell and Richard P. Rankin.

about Jesus, they wanted to turn away from the worship of spirits and have the joy and fellowship of Jesus Christ.

"The people would make a six or seven day journey to hear about Jesus Christ. Different groups would send a messenger to the missionary with this message: 'We have been slavery to the evil spirits but now we have heard about Jesus and we want you to come and tell our people about Jesus Christ.'"

"Today in that area, there are 120 Christian Churches where 30 years ago was not a single Christian person. These churches support about 60 preachers. As they have very little money, they bring baskets of rice, potatoes, a chicken or a piece of hand woven cloth for their offering."

"Some of these churches are supporting their own native preachers."

MORSE SAID he was asked by the Communist leaders to attend one of their meetings. This meeting lasted for two days. At first they said they were friends of all the Christians and that there was no quarrel about the Christian religion because they advocate the same ideas. But at the end of the meeting, they had changed and were telling him, the missionaries were trouble makers.

The Communist leaders would let them use the churches on Sunday but they would use the churches through the week to spread Communism, he said.

As the different missionaries keep on preaching the gospel and the Communist got hold of them they were taken to prison, he declared.

He said his father, James Russell Morse, was held in prison by the Communists for 15 months. They accused him of being a spy for the American government and tried every way to break him down so he would "confess," but he did not. They finally released him and they took him across the country to Hong Kong. There he located his family in Hong Kong.

Gun Club Has 38 Exhibitors

Meeting Here Sunday
Attracts Many

Thirty-eight exhibitors were present for the early winter meeting of the Central Ohio Gun and Indian Relic Collectors Association, held all day Sunday at Memorial Hall.

The bad weather conditions prevented many others from attending, but approximately 250 persons were present for the event, which was one of the outstanding gun and Indian relic collectors buying, selling and trading meetings of the year.

A large number of guns, Indian relics and other articles changed hands during the day, and all dealers were well satisfied with their success.

The president, Otis Stookey, reported 11 new members taken in during the day, bringing the total enrollment to 188 members, although the association is little more than a year old.

In addition to collectors coming from throughout the state, the states of Kentucky, Indiana and Pennsylvania, also were represented.

The meeting was held on the third floor of Memorial Hall where there is ample room for a large number of exhibitors, and all were pleased with the accommodations here.

A short business session was held during the day, and many new members were voted in.

Firemen Respond To Two Alarms

Firemen made two runs over the weekend. One was a false alarm at the Sohio Filling Station, 303 East Court Street, where a car had been on fire. The blaze had been extinguished and the car had left before firemen could arrive.

The other was Saturday afternoon at 713 Peabody Avenue, where the John Henry Seymore house was damaged considerably from a fire which started as result of a defective flue.

Auto Leaps Fence After Skidding

An automobile driven by Victor Sayre of Spartanburg, Pa., literally leaped a wire fence after leaving the highway near Madison Mills Sunday afternoon and came to rest in a field 200 feet from where it jumped the fence.

M. E. Brickles, state patrolman, who investigated, said the car skidded while traveling very rapidly, went into a ditch, cleared a wire fence except the barbed wire on top, landed in a field, turned over a time or two and finally came to rest 200 feet distant.

Sayre, not badly hurt, was charged with reckless operation and furnished $20 bond for appearance in municipal court Monday.

Christmas Candlelight Service By Comrades of Second Mile

An impressive Christmas candlelight service was held Sunday evening at the Methodist Church in Bloomingburg, conducted by the Comrades of the Second Mile, a missionary organization. Between 100 to 125 people attended the services.

The church was decorated throughout with the theme of Christmas. There were candles surrounded by holly and branches of cedar in each window. The worship center was decorated with one large candle with holly around it. Poinsettias, holly and candles decorated the piano.

The program was opened with the prelude and the processional Christmas carol, "O Come All Ye Faithful."

Rev. Lester Taylor gave the invocation and Christmas prayer. The litany of Christmas was given by Mrs. W. T. Noble followed by the Gloria Patria.

A hymn, "We Would See Jesus" was sung by the congregation followed with a reading, "The Coming of the Light," by Mrs. Donald Mossbarger. Another carol was sung "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing" before a reading of "The Spreading of the Light" by Mrs. Charles Cunningham.

The Christmas carol, "Brightest and Best of the Son" was sung by the congregation before the Christmas offering was taken.

The Christmas carol service was presented by the Comrades with Mrs. Lloyd Iden as the reader.

Rev. Taylor gave the benediction. The program was closed with the coral amen and the plauds.

Mrs. Madison Swope was the soloist and Mrs. Paul H. Elliott was the program director and pianist.

After the services a tea was held in the Sunday School room. The centerpiece of the tea table was decorated with branches of pine and red rosebuds with red candles on each side. Mrs. Lester Taylor and Mrs. W. T. Noble presided.

Cash Register And Safe Taken

Service Station Is Burglarized Here

A cash register and floor safe, containing about $50 were stolen from the Warner Service Station, Columbus Avenue and Ogle Street, sometime after 4 A. M. Sunday.

Entrance was gained by pushing open a window which had been left unfastened, police said. The cash register and floor safe were loaded into an automobile, it was indicated, and hauled toward Columbus.

The cash register, with contents missing, was found on the Post Road, 1½ miles southeast of Madison Mills, where it had been dumped into a ditch at the roadside.

So far the safe has not been located.

Meager clues were left by the burglars, and these are being checked by the police.

Sugar Grove Church Ready For Yule Program

The Sugar Grove Methodist Church will hold its Christmas program Sunday evening at the church beginning at 8 P. M.

Mrs. Mary Black and Mrs. Jeretta Brunner will present a half hour of musical selections beginning at 7:30 P. M. on the organ and piano.

Christmas treats will be handed out by Santa Claus after the program.

STEAKS

A man asks if we can serve thirty steaks tonight
-- large, luscious T-Bones for a group of guests. Yes!
We have a good supply at all times. 2.50

For an old fashioned hamburger steak, try our selected ground beef. 1.25

Another guest says, "Give us the biggest steak you serve." It's a pound and a half Porterhouse--a bargain with all the trimmings at 3.75.

A popular steak for those who do not want too heavy a meal is our club steak at 1.95. Women enjoy our Tenderloin Steaks. $3.

Anyone acquainted with steak prices in the better place in other cities will quickly identify ours as representing very good values.

Guests are equally welcome for a bowl of soup or a cup of coffee or for our reasonably priced dinners, which vary from 85c to our top dinner item of Prime Rib of Beef at 1.95.
